Aldea Services LLC (Aldea) provides expert technical resources for design and construction management of tunnels and underground projects. We aim to provide innovative and cost effective practical solutions and designs based upon a clear understanding of our Clients needs.

Aldea provides staff with North American and International expertise in management and delivery for projects of all types, including planning, design and construction. The senior management of Aldea is at the forefront of the underground construction industry. Whether the functional purpose is transit, highway, water, wastewater, hydropower, cable conduit or gas pipeline; we have been planning, designing, and constructing tunnel projects for over 20 years. We are effective in working with any number of issues due to our experience on projects all over North America and various other global locations.

Our experts have specialized expertise with bored and mined tunneling; underground caverns; New Austrian Tunneling Method (NATM) for soft ground and hard rock; trenchless technology; shaft design; support of excavation, ground improvement; geotechnical instrumentation; foundation design; structural design; and contract document preparation.
